Big Road Show Coming

The dramatization of "The Calling of Dan Matthews," which comes to the Keith Theatre on Monday, November 15th, is so well known as a book that it is utterly unnecessary to give a detailed description of the plot, as every reader of Harold Bell Wright's stories, and their name is legion, has read "The Calling of Dan Matthews."

In it we find the familiar and well loved scenes, faces and names we met with in "The Shepherd of the Hills." The play belongs to the twentieth century and like all of Mr. Wright's stories, when put into playing form makes an intensely interesting and powerful acting drama. Mr. Wright's characters when produced behind the footlights are always true to life, as the author himself is a magnificent delineator of character and never fails to imbue his men and women with a realism seldom equaled by the modern playwright. The play is in four acts, each one growing more interesting, as the drama draws to a close, and while serious in theme, it has a powerful vein of comedy that lightens it and acts as a base of relief to the stronger and more intense scenes of the drama. "The Calling of Dan Matthews" has been dramatized by Mr. Wright and Elsbury W. Reynolds, and is produced by the well-known firm of theatrical managers, Messrs. Gaskill and MacVitty, who have already given us "The Shepherd of the Hills" and "That Printer of Udell's" and have established for themselves an enviable reputation for sincerity of detail, and a desire to furnish for their various productions actors of merit and ability, and scenic equipment far above the ordinary.

Both in its company of players and scenic production "The Calling of Dan Matthews" bids fair to outshine any previous attempts by these popular producers; and to those theatre-goers who take real pleasure in a splendid play mounted with care and cast with a company far above the average, "The Calling of Dan Matthews" will make a powerful appeal.

Changes in the Fidelity Life

The Fidelity Life Association at a called meeting of the Board of Directors, Saturday, Oct. 30th, elected F. L. Temple, of Lexington, and John J. Halligan and Walter V. Hoagland of North Platte, Neb., to the existing vacancies on the Board of Directors. The Board now stands John J. Halligan and W. V. Hoagland of North Platte, F. L. Temple, C. F. Spencer and B. B. Baker of Lexington. January 1, 1916, C. F. Temple of North Platte will take the position of secretary of the company.

January 1, 1916, the company will move its home office to North Platte. It has received a warm welcome in North Platte and it is to be regretted that Lexington could not have retained this young prosperous company. The company has a bright future in store for it and our loss will evidently be the gain of the entire western territory.—Lexington Clipper.

Good Eyesight is Priceless

Those who have good eye-sight are exceedingly well blessed. Those properly supplied with correctly fitted glasses are nearly as fortunate. Those who are at all in doubt, should consult with us personally on this vital subject and will be truthfully told whether they need glasses or not. HARRY DIXON, Optometrist and Jeweler, west side of Dewey street.

THANKSGIVING

Since the beginning of time man has been endowed with a spirit of thankfulness.

It is this spirit that distinguishes the human race from the dumb animal and makes our fellowship with each other so pleasant. A man does us a kindness and we show by our acts that we appreciate it, or at once we show that we are lacking that greatest quality of true manhood. As a nation we have more to be thankful for than any other people. AT PEACE WITH ALL THE WORLD AND A BOUNTIFUL HARVEST AT GOOD PRICES.

As a company the Quaker Specials have more to be thankful for than any year in the past, because our Doctors have proven beyond any chance of contradiction that the combined In-travenous Therapy and Tissue Remedies does cure many cases that would be incurable by any other known method. And in turn our friends are sending their sick friends to us for treatment until our business is growing more rapidly than ever before.

In return we want to say to all our friends, "Accept our thanks for your loyal support."

THE QUAKER SPECIALISTS, Tuesday, November 16th, 2 to 6 p. m., at the Timmerman Hotel.

HASTINGS-NORTH PLATTE BIBLE SCHOOL CONTEST

The Hastings-North Platte bible school contest closed Sunday, October 31st, with the banner bible school of our history, having an attendance of 461. This attendance takes our building beyond the limit and during the last four Sundays of the contest the Loyal Men's bible class occupied the district court room. We had 19 classes to begin with, and many of the elementary classes are much too large to be handled properly, so that more classes must be formed. As regards the contest, our agreement with Hastings was as follows: Each one coming on time, this is ten o'clock, should count four points, and each one coming by ten fifteen should be counted late and count three points. Tickets were provided for all, blue tickets for on timers and red tickets for late comers. Those coming later than ten fifteen were not counted at all in the contest. In this part of the contest Hastings won by 133 points. Then it was also agreed between Hastings and us that during the five Sundays of October each one coming every Sunday on time should count five points extra on the last Sunday for his or her school. In this part Hastings gained 585 points and North Platte 785. This gave North Platte 67 points the lead, but on this part of the contest we have agreed that if it be satisfactory with Hastings that the contest be called a tie, but whether this agreement is reached or not North Platte is mighty proud of the record she made. It shows what good hard work can do. While we are not quite sure of it we know that our enrollment is between four and five hundred, and we are counting on five hundred in the school on our homecoming day, Nov. 28th. Next Sunday is World's Temperance Sunday and a special program is being prepared. J. H. VAN CLEAVE, Supt.

Should Encourage Vegetable Growing. Noting the fact that many vegetables are shipped into North Platte because sufficient are not grown in the contiguous territory for home consumption, an old resident suggests that the Chamber of Commerce offer a liberal premium for the best acre of navy beans, of Hubbard squashes, cucumbers for pickles, cabbage and like vegetables. This premium would be an inducement for farmers to raise the vegetables and thus supply the home market. If these vegetables can be raised at a profit elsewhere and freight paid here, certainly the producer here, receiving the same price plus the freight, would find it more profitable.

WE SELL a great many cans of Heinz Baked Beans because it is well understood that they are as good, if not better than the beans prepared at home.

Housewives have been quick to avail themselves of this perfect substitute.

"Perfect" because Heinz Beans, with or without Tomato Sauce, are scientifically prepared in a cleanly manner, and really oven baked.

The big demand proves that they are delicious; the Heinz name proves that they are good. It is because we know this that we are willing to pay more for a can of beans that costs you the same.
